-Mr. T. E. Hayes, of Bloomfield, whom president Eppley requested to interview the business men on Glenwood avenue in regard to the proposed horse car line, states that the enterprise is favorably regarded by the majority of them.

-The opening exercises of the Temperance School will take place next Friday, Oct. 7th, at 3.30, in the lecture room of the Baptist church. The children will be addressed by Mr. Robert Dransfield, of Scotland. All interested in temperance work are cordially invited to attend.

-Franz Sigel Company No. 12, N. G. S. B., have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President Daniel Gutterbach; first lieutenant John Paige; second lieutenant John Guetmueller; sergeant at arms Louis Lang; secretary Robert Leiz; treasurer Henry Rollpiller; delegates to convention Frederick Jaeger and Henry Rollpiller.

-It is claimed by those who have experienced climbing a ladder at a fire with one of the extinguishers now used by the fire department on their back that they are entirely too heavy, and that more effective work could be done in a great many instances with lighter ones.

-Chief engineer Marsh returned home on Monday from Atlanta, Ga., where he had been attending the Convention of Fire Engineers. The chief speaks in very favorable terms of Atlanta and its people, and especially of its well equipped and efficient fire department which as a matter of course would prove of unusual interest to him. As a place for permanent residence, however, the chief prefers rather to-live in Bloomfield by moonlight than any part of the proverbial sunny south.

-One evening not long since a gentleman was hurrying along on the south side of Hill street when he suddenly found himself precipitated over a huge rock that boldly projects from the ground and completely blocked the sidewalk. The gentleman sustained a severe injury to his knee. He arose filled with indignation; and as a mat'er of coarse, the Town Committee came in for a full share of objurgations. A citizen reporter who made some inquiries regarding the matter was informed that the rock was an old landmark of the vicinity and for many years had afforded endless amusement to the children of the neighborhood, who delighted to perch on its apex and slide to its base. The smooth surface of the stone fully coroborated this. The mothers in the neighborhood were magnanimous in their praises of the Town Committee for leaving the stone there. They felt sure that the members of the Town Committee had little children of their own who enjoyed sliding.

Mr. Ragan's Lectures. Essex Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1 announce that they have arrenged with Mr. H. H. Ragan for a course of three of his instructive and pleasing entertainments, to be given in Library Hall, as follows: Wednesday, evening, Oct. 19th, "The Parks and Environs of London." Saturday, Oet. 22d, "Colorado, Mexico and Utah." Wednesday, Nov. 16th, "Florence and Pisa." The above ere new to Bloomfield audiences, and are fully as attractive as those presented by Mr. Ragan so acceptably in past seasons. The price of course tickets will be one dollar, evening tickets fifty cents each. They will be sold by members of the Company and at Mr. Wood's drug store. The sale of reserved seats begins Monday, Oct. 10th at 7 A.M.

Church Notes.

-The Episcopal church, on Liberty street, is rapidly approaching completion, and the Bishop of the Diocese is expected to rededicate it tomorrow, the service to begin at half-past ten o'clock. It has been found impossible to decorate the interior until the walls are thoroughly dry, and accordingly the work will be defered until next Summer. The enlargement gives one hundred and twenty-eight addi-The Commissioners of Appeals met in | tional sittings and is a very great improvement. ## A Wooden Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Unangst presented a scene of animation, gayety and pleasure on Tuesday evening. The host and hostess having arrived at that period in their matrimonial experience which it is customary to celebrate with a special anniversary termed wooden, tin, silver, or golden, according the years of wedded union, their friends and acquantances accordingly assembled in large numbers to appropriately observe the first named of these special events. Mr. and Mrs. Unangst, in addition to the showers of congratulations poured upon them were the recipients of many handsome and valuable presents. An endless variety of wooden articles figured prominently in the list. Mr. Unangst holds a prominent office in the order of K. of P., and several of his friends in that society were present to extend their congratulations to their happy brother and his wife. Conspicuous among these was Gen. Wm. Ward, of Newark. Excellent music suit. able to the occasion was furnished by Prof. Frank's orchestra. Dancing was indulged in by the younger people. A splendid collation was served to which ample justice was done by all the guests. Among the Bloomfielders who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter, Mr and Mrs. Jessie I. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Akers, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Lockwood, Miss Nellie Hall, Miss Helen Paxton and Mr. David Post. Many friends from New York and Brooklyn were among the throng.
